SAGASTA TO GIVE CUBA HOME RULE

PREMIER SAGASTA EXPLAINS HIS OFFICIAL PROGRAM.

Queen Regent's Influence—Dissolution of the Cortes and Reversal of Conservative Policies Is Promised—The Decisive Action Is Due to American Diplomacy.

London, Oct. 4.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says: "The queen regent took a strong initiative during the crisis, and profoundly surprised General Azcarraga by leaving him no alternative but resignation. She frankly expressed her disapproval of the conservative administration, especially in its treatment of the anarchist prisoners at Fortress Montjuio.

GEN. WEYLER.

"She said she had allowed Senor Canovas to remain in office in the hope that he would modify the rigor of his repressive pollicy in Cuba and that she had repeatedly called the attention of ministers to administrative scandals and abuses. Moreover, her majesty said she waited patiently for two months after the death of Senor Canovas in the hope that the new government would correct these evils. On its failure to do so she took it upon herself to consult General Campos, Senor Silvela and others as to the best means of pacifying Cuba by an endeavor to satisfy the autonomists and thus virtually steal a march on American diplomacy.

"All the statesmen whom she consulted appear to have advised a liberal cabinet as the best means of attaining the queen's wishes. Thereupon her majesty thanked General Azcarraga for his splendid services as minister of war and intimated her intention to appoint Senor Sagasta as president of the council.

"The latter in accepting the portfolios expressed his intention to give the largest possible measure of Cuban home rule, to reverse the conservative policy in Cuba and the Philippines, to recall General Weyler, if he did not resign, to prepare for a dissolution of the cortes and to select able representatives to go to Washington and European capitals, as well as to the colonies of Spain, to prove to America and Europe that Spain is at last going to do spontaneously and sincerely what the United States has suggested could be accomplished more quickly and better by mediation or the interference which the Spanish people would certainly not brook, and to which no Spanish government could assent.

"Senor Sagasta met with a hearty response on the part of all liberal statesmen, and all the Spanish stocks and securities have steadily risen on the strength of this settlement of the crisis."

The Daily News says editorily: "If General Woodford has not presented an ultimatum at Madrid it seems clear that he has made representations carrying tolerably similar effects and practically resulting in the downfall of the cabinet. The change of ministry seems to tend toward an accommodation with America's known desires."

Will Oppose Mediation in Cuba.

Madrid, Oct. 4.—The ministerial changes will not affect the instructions which United States Minister Woodford originally received from President McKinley. Both Gen. Woodford and Senor Sagasta, the premier, maintain absolute reserve on the question of American relations to Spain. Leading liberals, however, declare that Spain can never officially accept American mediation in Cuban affairs.

Germans Offer Money to Chile.

Valparaiso, Oct. 4.—It is stated here that a powerful syndicate of German bankers has offered to the Chilean government a loan of $100,000,000 in gold, at 4 per cent interest and 2 per cent amortization, for the completion of public works and railways.

Belgian Miners May Strike.

Liege, Belgium, Oct. 4.—The national congress of miners which has been in session here decided to make a demand for an advance of 15 per cent in wages. If this demand is not granted by the middle of November the executive committee will call a general strike.

Killed in a Collision.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 5.—In a freight collision on the Nickel Plate railroad at Willoughby, O., Sunday Engineer Charles Brown of Bellevue was killed and seven cars loaded with grain and stock demolished.

MANITOBA FIRE-SWEPT.

Seven Lives Lost and a Vast Stretch of Territory Is Devastated.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 4.—The prairie fire which raged all over the country Saturday, being fanned and driven by a gale of wind, died out during the night and Sunday morning dawned upon a scene of death and devastation. Farmhouses, implements, crops, and live stock were everywhere consumed and many farmers lost their all.

A most lamentable story comes from Beausejour, forty miles east of this city, where two women and five children, named Moreski, were burned to death. Fire came upon their house, which was in the woods, from two directions simultaneously, and shut off all means of escape. Only a few charred remains were found. There were many narrow escapes.

The carcasses of horses, cattle, and sheep are lying all over the district and a number of families of foreigners are homeless and destitute.

Bagot, seventy miles west was practically wiped out of existence. At Stony Mountain fire ran up to the Canadian Pacific railroad platform, where, by desperate efforts, its progress was stayed. Much hay and grain was consumed in this district.

SUSTAINS GLASS-CUTTERS.

Important Document of the Association at Anderson, Ind.

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 4.—Ten years ago the original articles of amalgamation of the blowers, gatherers, cutters and flatteners into the Window-Glass Workers' National Association were stolen, and have been missing since. The present division, which has resulted in the cutters and flatteners withdrawing from the original organization and asking for a receiver, is on the question of the equalization of wages, the blowers demanding 15 per cent more increase than they will allow the cutters and flatteners. By strategy the cutters secured the articles of agreement, and they are now held in this city. Section 1 sustains them, as it states all agree to profit or lose equally in advance and reduction. This paper will place the $200,000 in the treasury in their hands. The receivership comes up for hearing in Pittsburg Nov. 1. All window-glass plants are tied up by this complication.

Give Indianapolis the Cup.

Columbus, O., Oct. 4.—The Indianapolis and Columbus players held a meeting Sunday evening and decided that Indianapolis should take the cup. They also divided the money, the receipts of five games, netting each player a trifle over $75. As originally planned by the donor of the cup, the Detroit Free Press, the series was to be four out of seven games, but as all of the players were anxious to get home and the prospect of attendance was poor, they took it upon themselves to declare the series finished, and both teams disbanded here, many of the men starting immediately for their homes. It is feared that trouble will be occasioned by this action, and it may have the effect of doing away with future cup series, as the action of the players proves conclusively that they care nothing for the honor of winning the cup, but are merely out for the money.

Fever at Lewes, Del.

Lewes, Del., Oct. 4.—The Norwegian fruit steamer, John Wilson, ten days from Bocas del Toro, Colombia, arrived at Delaware breakwater quarantine at noon Sunday with her flag at half mast. When the quarantine physician boarded her he found the body of Chief Engineer Charles Peterson, aged 37 years, of Bergen, Norway, who died on the passage Friday last of yellow fever. The steamer left for Reedy Island at 8 o'clock. She will be thoroughly fumigated there and the crew placed in quarantine for some time. The government quarantine station is located at Reedy Island, which is about forty miles south of Philadelphia, and a spread of the plague is not apprehended.

Want the Stars and Stripes.

City of Mexico, Oct. 4.—A man from Guatemala says decent people throughout Central America are tired of the rule of military robbers, who have for many years plundered the public. There is a growing feeling in Central America, such as has long existed in Guatemala, for annexation to the United States, thus to find enjoyment of the benefit of some respectable government under the protection of the United States.

Gen. Neal Dow Dead.

Portland, Me., Oct. 4.—General Neal Dow died at his residence in this city Saturday afternoon. The end was peaceful, and he retained consciousness until an hour before he died, recognizing his children, who were gathered at his bedside. General Dow's death was due to the infirmities of old age. A week ago he was obliged to take to his bed.

Record for Charity.

London, Oct. 4.—The retiring lord mayor of London, Sir George Faudel-Phillips, has achieved a record so far as far as charitable funds are concerned. During the twelve months he has been in office Sir George has raised $3,500,000, the bulk of it being the Indian famine fund.

Honors for Two Canadians.

London, Oct. 2.—Chief Justice Tait of Montreal, and former Chief Justice Hagarty of the province of Ontario, have been officially gazetted knights.

FAMINE THREATENED THROUGH SOUTH

NEW PHASE OF THE FEVER SCARE IN THE SOUTH.

Unreasoning Fear Prevails—Opelousas La., Cut Off From Food Supplies By a Cordon of Shotgun Quarantines—Trade Almost Paralyzed In the South.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 4.—For fear of fever Opelousas, La., is face to face with famine. The food stores in that town are all but exhausted, and shotgun quarantines in a close cordon of neighboring towns make it practically impossible to bring in supplies.

The population of the town is divided on the question whether starvation is better or worse than death from yellow jack. This question does not trouble the quarantine authorities whose restrictions have caused the shortage in Opelousas. Vicksburg, Miss., has placed an absolute embargo on the operation of all trains of the Vicksburk, Shreveport & Pacific road on the ground that the company had violated the established quarantine regulations.

It is more than likely that the general quarantine in effect throughout the cotton belt will have an appreciable effect upon the price of that staple and will cause heavy losses. The quarantine has been very strict against this character of freight, and only a few of the towns interested have as yet relaxed the severity of original conditions. Even in these cases no cotton coming via infected cities is allowed to pass.

Atlanta is becoming restive under the failure to receive mails, and it is claimed that more than $1,000,000 in bank checks and drafts for the Georgia city are held up in the mail-gorged postoffice of Mobile for lack of sufficient facilities to handle the fumigating plant.

There is a probability of a hitch between the state officials of Mississippi and the federal government. Gustavus Foster, government lighthouse-keeper of the Merril Shell Beach lighthouse, near Bay St. Louis, had refused to comply with the quarantine restrictions imposed by the Mississippi town council. He was arrested and sentenced to fine and imprisonment. Mayor Arbo, who made the ruling, reconsidered the case and ordered Foster to leave town immediately. Foster went.

It has been decided not to allow the 300 immigrants who will arrive here Tuesday on the Chateau Yquem to land. The federal legal authorities here and the representative of the health board have declared their belief that the city has the right to refuse to admit the foreigners on the ground that self-defense overrides conflicting laws, and that such action would not be antagonistic to the treaty with Italy.

At 8 o'clock Sunday night there had been twenty-seven new cases reported and but two deaths. In the last week the foci of infection have not been largely increased. Dr. Metz reports that by Tuesday all the houses in the St. Claude district, where the infection was first introduced, will be released from quarantine. The fever was confined to the single square in which it started.

The quantity of fresh water running through the streets of New Orleans daily will be augmented by some 8,000,000 gallons through the use of the mains and machinery of the old Auxiliary Sanitary association.

Eight Die by Strychnine.

Schuyler, Neb., Oct. 4.—During Sunday forenoon Frank Steinad came hastily in from Shell creek precinct, nine miles northwest, to summon a physician to the home of Frank Davis, where he said the whole family had been poisoned. Dr. Sixta hastened out and found the mother and four of the seven children in the family dead. A fifth child was in a dying condition, and a sixth victim was ill. Mr. Davis and his oldest son went away early in the morning, leaving before the rest of the family breakfasted. When the meal was prepared all sat down, and early in the course of the meal Mrs. Davis made some such remark as: "Eat a good breakfast and we'll all go together." Strychnine had been put in the coffee, which soon showed its effects. Those not prostrated spread the alarm.

Ex-Senator McMillan Dead.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 4.—Samuel J. R. McMillan, for two terms United States senator from Minnesota, died at 10 o'clock Sunday night of anaemia. He was born in Brownsville, Pa., Feb. 22, 1826. He was graduated in 1846 from Duquesne college. He removed to Minnesota in 1852 and in 1864 was chosen an associate justice of the Supreme court, was re-elected in 1871 and in 1874 was chosen chief justice. In Februrary, 1875, he was chosen United States senator and again in 1881. He was recently a member of the committee of revision of the confession of faith of the Presbyterian church.

The banks now hold $15,550,400 in excess of legal requirements.

GHASTLY DETAILS OF SUNDAY WRECK

FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE DENVER & RIO GRANDE.

Done By Breaking a Journal—Fortunate Circumstances Alone Prevent a Fearful Disaster—Two Passengers Killed and a Large Number Seriously Injured.

Cotopaxi, Col., Oct. 4.—The first section of the Denver & Rio Grande narrow gauge train No. 4 met with an accident just west of here at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. The accident was caused by the breaking of a journal. Two passengers were killed. The train was made up of one baggage car, three tourist cars, one coach, three sleepers and a pay car.

One coach, three sleepers and the pay car left the track and rolled over on their sides. The wreck occurred at the end of a trestle, the last car of the train having just passed across the bridge. Had the accident occurred while the train was crossing the trestle the loss of life would have undoubtedly been very great.

The following is a list of the dead and injured:

Mrs. McIntyre of Silverton, killed outright.

Fred Seyler of Cincinnati; died on the train going to Salida.

Mrs. Robinson of Delta; head injured.

Mrs. Mary Johnson of Telluride; right shoulder injured.

Frank E. Adams of Telluride; cut about head.

Miss Ada Crompton of Delta; injured on head.

Mrs. Saunders of Salida; cut on lip and left shoulder.

Miss Laura Gates of Denver; cut on head.

Mrs. James Kirk of Montrose; slightly bruised.

Mrs. G. N. Compton of Denver; back slightly injured.

J. H. Shay of Telluride; left leg and right shoulder hurt; slightly cut about head.

Lulu Chase, Denver; bad cut over right eye.

F. H. Posey, Denver; right arm bruised; head cut.

John Moling, Telluride; slightly hurt.

C. H. Berndesfer, Telluride; right side of face scratched.

A. C. Howard, Booneville, Mo.; hand cut and side bruised.

H. Williamson, Denver, conductor; head cut and face scratched.

James O'Connor, paymaster, Denver; contused hip.

A dozen or more received more or less painful injuries, but were not seriously hurt. Mrs. McIntyre was in lower berth 4 in the forward sleeper and was found after the wreck lying dead on the ground opposite her berth window. She was badly crushed. Mr. Seyler was standing on the platform between the two coaches when the wreck occurred.

Of the injured the death of Mrs. Robinson of Delta only is feared.

A number of the more seriously injured were taken to Salida, where they were cared for. Those who could continued their journey to Denver. The wrecked train was bringing excursionists to attend the carnival exercises.

DISASTER AT SEA.

Ship and Fifty Men Go Down in a Heavy Storm.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 4.—The British barkentine St. Peter, before reported having been passed at sea and making for Halifax in distress, arrived here Sunday. She was partly dismasted in a hurricane that struck here on the night of Sept. 8, compelling her to put about for Halifax in order to repair the damage.

Capt. Skaling brings the startling report that the storm through which his vessel passed was the cause of sending to the bottom a four-masted iron sailing ship, which must have carried a crew of at least forty or fifty men. The St. Peter and the other vessel had been sailing within sight of each other all day Sept. 8, but never came within hailing distance. The name of one could not be distinguished from the deck of the other.

Mother and Two Sons Perish.

Long Meadow, Mass., Oct. 4.—The home of George Brownlee caught fire early Sunday morning. Mrs. Brownlee, her husband and two sons—Thomas, aged 21, and James, aged 19—escaped in their night robes; but Mrs. Brownlee rushed back into the house, thinking her sons had not come out. Thomas ran after her to save her, and James followed Thomas. All perished. Mr. Brownlee was badly burned on the hands and feet. The bodies of the victims were recovered.

Socialists Convene at Homburg.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—The socialist convention was opened at Homburg Sunday. Its principal object is to decide as to the participation of the socialists as a party in the forthcoming elections to the diet.

Drought Hurts Winter Wheat.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 4.—An extreme drought prevails in nearly every part of this state, and spring wheat is suffering badly. Unless moisture comes soon the cereal will be in very poor condition for the winter.

LEAGUE SEASON OVER.

Keeler of the Baltimores Leads in Batting, with Delehanty Second.

The final National league games played Saturday and yesterday left the standing of the twelve clubs exactly as it was before they were played. Washington and Brooklyn expected to settle the fight for sixth place, but as Boston and Baltimore both put in substitute teams against them easy victories for the weaker teams resulted and the tie remained unbroken. Chicago took two of the St. Louis games, but lost the third and failed to better its position, ending in ninth place.

Keeler of the Baltimore ex-champions, gained the first batting prize this year, for which last year he pushed Burkett so closely. Delehanty, who was close up last year, and led for a part of this season, is again just behind Keeler. Burkett, in spite of the co-operation of Cleveland scorers, has dropped to fifth place. La Joie, the slugging batsman of the Phillies, takes a high rank for his first entire season in the league. Lange is the first Chicago player to show. He is ninth. Thornton, too, has a high average, and Ryan, Dahlen, Decker and Callahan make creditable showing. Anson, who has stayed in the game on account of his good batting, does not reach the 300 mark. Standing of the clubs:

Clubs.	W.	L.	P. C.
Boston	93	39	705

HEEDS THE PROTEST.

Outcry Against Vast Naval Expenditure Having Effect in Germany.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—The outcry against the new naval bill, which contemplates an appropriation of 410,000,000 marks to be distributed over seven years, and the construction of a score of vessels, of which ten are to be large ships, appears to have caused the government to pause. The National Zeitung, in a paragraph evidently inspired, announces that the details of the program have not yet been settled, but will be the subject of deliberation at the meeting of the bundesrath next Thursday, as the admiralty has no idea of trying to curtail the budget of the diet.

The imperial statistical office has issued trade statistics showing that the value of German exports to the United States in 1893 was 354,000,000 marks; in 1894, 271,000,000 marks, and in 1896, 384,000,00, marks.

Masked Men Again at Osgood.

Osgood, Ind., Oct. 4.—One hundred and fifty masked horsemen rode into this town early Saturday morning, blowing bugles. The leader announced that he wanted a man who had returned to town after being ordered to quit the region forever. As it happened, this person had been given warning of the approach of the White Caps and had made his escape. This being discovered, the horsemen turned head, rode to the edge of the town and disbanded. Several other people have been served with notice to leave Ripley county. Many fear a repetition of the great lynching.

Seeks a Judgeship.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 4.—It is said on good authority here that ex-President Grover Cleveland aspires to the place now vacant in the court of errors and appeals, and that considerable pressure has been brought to bear on Governor Griggs to make the appointment. The vacancy is the result of the death of Judge William L. Dayton, one of the law judges. It is not generally believed the governor will make the appointment.

Great Massacre Reported.

Rome, Oct. 4.—News has been received here from Benadir to the effect that the English-Cavendish sporting expedition, which left Berbera, East Africa, last year, arrived at Lugh, Somaliland, about the middle of November and thence proceeded for Lake Rudolph, has been attacked by a band of Amharas, who murdered all the members of the expedition. The party consisted of two Englishmen and ninety Ascaris.

Fear Riots in Choctaw Council.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Secretary Bliss has requested Secretary Alger to order troops to proceed to Tuskahoma, I. T., to avert threatened trouble during the session of the Choctaw council, which convened to-day. Both Gov. McCurtain and Indian Agent Wisdom fear an outbreak between the political factions. It is probable that a troop of cavalry will be sent from Fort Gibson.

Situation Serious.

Edwards, Miss., Oct. 4.—The doctors reported two deaths and fourteen new cases of yellow fever Sunday, of whom seven are white. Mayor Redfield is doing well, as is Father Prendergast.

TRADER MURDERED NEAR SUPERIOR

JOE BLACKBURN FOUND DEAD AT HIS DOOR.

Authorities Think They Know Who Shot Him—The Murdered Man Was One Of the Best Known Indian Traders in the Northern Part of State.

West Superior, Oct. 4.—[Special]—Joe Blackburn, one of the best known Indian traders in this section of the country, was found murdered at his cabin door last night by a party of Indians who were passing. The bullet passed through his brain. Authorities are making an investigation and claim to have a clue.

TO STOP BRITISH ADVANCE.

Orakzais Again Gathering in Force in the Kuhanki Valley.

Bombay, Oct. 4.—Advices received here from Guistan says the Orakzais are again gathering in force in the Kuhanki valley prepared to resist the advance of the British troops, while bands of Mamozais have arrived five miles west of Khangarboor. In addition, the Afridis are moving on the Khyber pass and the telegraph wires from there to Hangu have once more been cut.

The Chamkanis are also raiding. They attacked a cavalry patrol near Sadda but decamped so soon as reenforcement arrived. A heavy fall of snow has made the Koh range safe.

The ameer of Afghanistan has issued a proclamation forbidding his subjects to leave Afghanistan to join the holy war under a penalty of 5,000 rupees.

IS UNDER A BAN

Next Winter Congress Will Be Asked to Take Charge of Quarantine.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Recent experiences in the South with "shotgun" quarantine, and the resulting injury to commerce, not to mention the personal hardships imposed upon innocent people, have stirred the authorities to consider the necessity for a single uniform regulation which shall be under national control.

Congress will be urged at the coming session to pass a law doing away with the local quarantine and appropriating sufficient funds to purchase additional government quarantine stations and to put into operation the single and uniform system.

Supervising Surgeon General Walter Wyman of the Marine hospital service believes strongly in the necessity for a single federal quarantine.

Paying Balances in Gold.

New York, Oct. 4.—The plethora of gold in the banks and the treasury and the scarcity of greenbacks is causing banks some difficulty in making their payments at the clearing house in bills and may cause most of them to return to the practice of years ago—settling their daily debt balances in gold. The first movement in this direction was made when the National Park bank paid its entire debt balance of $586,000 in gold. Two other banks have also paid gold in settlement of the debt balance. It is considered likely that other banks will have to follow suit shortly.

Fixing for the Japs.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 4.—The war department is rushing work on the fortifications of San Diego harbor with remarkable energy. Lieutenant Meyler, in charge of the construction of the fortifications, said that the first two guns to be placed at ballast point had been shipped by the quartermaster's department from the Watervliet arsenal, and that they would soon arrive. The war department is building torpedo defenses at San Diego that are as important, if not more so, than the gun batteries. One of these casements is now completed, extending into the bay under the surface.

Evans Beats Indianapolis.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 4.—A patched-up Columbus team beat the Hoosiers all the way in the fifth Free Press cup game, there never being a time that the champions looked like winners. Evans pitched splendid ball, shutting Indianapolis out up to the seventh inning, when Kahoe lifted one over the left-field fence. The score:

Columbus .....1 2 0 0 2 0 0 1 0—6

Osman Digna Is Falling Back.

Cairo, Oct. 4.—Dispatches from Merawai confirm the report that Osman Digna, the principal general of the khalifa, is retiring with his army on Omdurman, opposite Khartoum, leaving the road between Suakim and Berber open. All the tribes of the eastern Soudan, according to these dispatches, have renounced mahdism.

Soldiers Will Leave Today.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 4.—It is announced that the battalion of troops still stationed here will be withdrawn to-day. All the militia will then have left. The miners are nearly all at work and affairs have again resumed their normal condition.

Plan to Oppose British Forces.

Simla, Oct. 4.—The Afridi and Orakzai chiefs have held a council at Kool and have arranged a plan to oppose the British advance.

NEW PASTOR'S PLANS SHOWN IN SERMON

REV. W. A. HALL IN COURT STREET PULPIT.

Rev E. H. Pence Tells His Congregation of the Wonderful Influence of Whitefield and Wesley Upon the Life of This Country—Other Church Notes.

The new pastor Rev. W. A. Hall was introduced to his congregation at Court Street M. E. church yesterday morning, by Presiding Elder F. A. Pease. Mr. Hall is a ready and vigorous speaker. His desk was placed at one corner of the rostrum, and without the aid of notes or manuscript he occupied the platform for thirty minutes, commanding close attention.

His morning topic was "Planning Our Work," and was introductory to the church work of the year. The speaker said he was a firm believer in planning for all work and that success never attended effort without a well defined plan. God had ordained that his creatures should work to a plan, and the creator Himself was the example of the great designer. He planned the earth and every view of nature speaks of his Infinite thoroughness. The foliage in the forest with every delicate form of leaf, the plantain that grows in the dust by the wayside, the violet that blossoms in the valley, the stream that finds its way through field and forest, all speak of the plans of an all-wise creator.

The inspired word of God is a plan. From the opening of the pages of creation down through the age of prophets and the coming of His Son to be the world's redeemer, the book unfolds the plans of infinite love.

Man plans. No action is without a plan and no action is larger than the plan. The railway train and the ocean liner are not inanimate things but they are great thoughts passing swiftly through the land and over the waves, the finished product of well defined plans. The building that rises from the pile of brick and mortar is the embodiment of careful and intelligent planning.

God depends on human hands to work out many of his plans. He has endowed us with brains, with hands, with arms, with legs and expects us to use the equipment in his service.

Failure frequently results from effort without a plan. A bullet placed on a charge of powder ignited from a rock is perfectly harmless, but the same bullet rammed home, top of the same powder in the barrel of a musket does execution because the plan is worked out.

Too many church workers are like jelly fish, floating with the wind and waves. God gave to each of us a backbone, and top of this he placed brains, and top of the brain he placed a will, and with this threefold equipment he expects results. The speaker urged the church to plan for efficient work this year and said that next Sunday morning he would talk to them about working a plan.

Many of the audience remained to shake hands with him at the close of the service. The popular verdict seemed to be that Court Street had a good preacher.

REVIVAL SAVED THIS COUNTRY

Rev. E. H. Pence Tells of the Upheaval That Stirred America.

At the Presbyterian church yesterday morning, Rev. E. H. Pence spoke on the subject, "From Generation to Generation." He said:

"We are impressed with the fact, as we study God's word and his plan of developing it, that He expected when once He had stated to a generation the story of His redemptive love, to have that generation assume the responsibility of carrying it still farther Each generation is going to bequeath something to the generation that is to follow. There are two or three ways in which this generation may plant a bias for good or evil. One is by heredity, another is by example, and still another is by the spirit of the age in which we live.

Paul said that no man liveth unto himself. Nor does a generation live unto itself. The human race is organic unity; it is bound together, so that the spirit of a thousand years ago is living today in this generation. One generation makes the next what it is. God's purpose was that each generation might rise higher than the generation that preceded it. One generation can rise higher than its predecessor when there has not been built a foundation upon which it can rise, only when some new, divine—human element comes in. For instance, never was the world so degraded as in the generation when Jesus Christ appeared upon the history of the race. And it seems that the world had gone back after the reformation to a degradation almost like that of the time when Christ came. The influence of French infidelity and sceptism had impregnated the mind and conduct and character of the American people because of our close sympathy with the French people and their close sympathy with us. France had brought not only her friendship, but her scepticism. But just at the ebbing of the eighteenth century there began over in Kentucky, there swept over the Ohio into Pennsylvania, lapped the waves of the Atlantic ocean, on up into New England a revival such as the world has not seen since the time of Pentecost—a revival that made America in its beginning a christian nation—a revival by the lips and influence of a Whitfield and a Wesley. It saved the nation.

The generation to come shall be what you and I by influence, perc ance by heredity, by the teaching of the precept and the law of God. shall determine and mould and make it.

The subject of the evening sermon was "Our Life Foes." Our worst enemy is not the gross or sensual one, who repels us by his very odiousness, but the one who brings his temptations and his subtle influence covered and glossed over with the varnish and fresco and whitewash and the clothes of eminent respectabilty.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will hold a business meeting followed by a social on Tuesday evening October 5th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, 58 Park avenue.

HEARD PROF. R. C. CHAPIN.

Congregationalists Addressed by Member of the Beloit College Faculty

Rev. Robert C. Denison, of the Congregational church being absent on account of a death in his family, Prof. R. C. Chapin occupied the pulpit in the morning. Prof Chapin preached a most thoughtful sermon from the text Eph. 2:19. "Fellow citizens with the saints. It is a good thing to be in good company. Paul found his citizenship with both the Jews and Romans of great advantage to him. His citizenship in both kingdoms was a bond of union and an aid to Paul in building the gospel. There are many encouragements from the analogy of citizenship and membership in God's kingdom.

Membership is broad as all ages. All classes, languages, and races can be included in this bond of citizenship. It includes saints of all time, both past, present and future. The claim too is both deep and high. This life demands the best service man can give the high state of which he is a member. From this we can gain the lessons that if we are fellow citizens we owe holy living, efforts to extend Christ's Kingdom, and the best enthusiasm we can give to the service of God's Kingdom."

There was no service in the evening except the Y. P. S. C. E.

HER SOBBING CAUGHT JURY

Mrs. Harry Hammas May Have Helped To Free Her Husband.

Did the crying of Mrs. Henry Hammas have any effect on the jury in the horse stealing case tried in the municipal court Saturday? Some think it did, especially the interested attorneys. When Attorneys Jackson and Pierce made their final pleas to the jury, Mrs. Hammas sat beside her husband, crying as if her heart would break. When the jury filed into the jury room, they looked back pityingly at the sorrow-stricken wife. Those who held out for conviction in spite of the argument of tears were Charles F. Randall, C. H. Smith and F. F. Pierson.

If you have ever seen a little child in a paroxysm of whooping cough, or if you have been annoyed by a constant tickling in the throat, you can appreciate the value of One Minute Cough Cure, which gives a quick relief C. D. Stevens.

ELKHORN FAIR PAID $8300

Big Sum Expended In Premiums For the Walworth County Show.

The fair this year was the forty-eighth given by the Walworth County Society. The society has never defaulted in its premiums or discounted them in any way. The aggregate of premiums paid since its organization reaches $200,000, and the premium list has grown year by year as more money could be devoted to that purpose. This year the premiums aggregated $8 300, and of the amount $6,300 was devoted to regular premiums to exhibitors, only $2,300, or but little more than one-fourth of the whole, being given for race purses. There were 9,000 entries, and on Thursday, the principal day of the fair, the attendance was over 25,000, though the population of the county is less than 30,000.

WHALEN BADLY PUNCHED

Bad Beloit Man Begins to Wish He Had Arbitrated.

Rhoda Whalen of Beloit, known to the local police as a "bad man" was pounded and kicked into insensibility Thursday evening by Hugh Tully. The men got into an argument and decided that it was better to fight than to bother with arbitration. When the debate ended Whalen was taken up unconscious and Dr. Farr of Beloit, called to attend him. He had several cuts in the face, said to have been caused by kicks from Tulley. Tully has fled the country.

Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where One Minute Cough Cure would bring immediate relief. C. D. Stevens.

OTIS SKINNER TOMORROW

Prince Rudolph Awaited With Lively Interest By Play-Goers.

Otis Skinner's presentation of his romantic drama "Prince Rudolph," tomorrow evening is awaited with lively interest. There are altogether two many inferior attractions touring the country; they give not only poor performances, but the plays which they present, as a general rule are extremely mediocre. When, then, the announcement is made that so well-known an actor as Mr. Skinner will present a new play, it should serve to fill the theater. "Prince Rudolph" is a free adaptation of one of Robert Louis Stevenson's best novels and it is an extremely interesting bit of dramatic work. The story is interesting and the situations and climaxes are extremely dramatic. The company which Mr. Skinner brings with him is reported to be one of the largest and best balanced organizations now on the road. The advance demand for seats indicates that the people are interested in the engagement.

STREET CARS WERE MISSED

Church Goers Realized How Great a Convenience the Road Has Been.

Many a church goer yesterday morning talked impatiently about the street cars. Even the notification that cars would not run had not reached everybody and it was seen that the cars have come to be more of a necessity than a luxury.

At the power house Sunday morning a force of men were overhauling the machinery in the engine room, giving it a general inspection for the first time since the starting of the road. Business was brisk in the afternoon.

CITY NEWS IN A PARAGRAPH.

THE Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church will serve an excellent supper in the church parlors Wednesday evening from five to seven o'clock, for twenty-five cents. The public is cordially invited.

WITH hearts full of grief we wish to thank the many good friends who were present to comfort and assist at the time of our recent unspeakable bereavement. The many acts of kindness then shown will remain forever with us. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Allison.

THE Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road earned gross for August, $2,780,614, an increase of $256,247, and net $1,092,125, an increase of $246 361. From July 1 gross earnings were $5,494,007, an increase of $423,514, and net $2,041,963, an increase of $375,336.

W. G. MAXCY bid in the Beaver Dam water works for the reorganization committee of bond holders at the marshal's sale in Milwaukee. The amount realized was $70,000. It is probable the reorganization committee will carry out their work by reorganizing the company and selling the works.

DANGER IN SODA.

Serious Results Sometimes Follow Its Excessive Use.

Common soda is alright in its place and indispensable in the kitchen and for cooking and washing purposes, but it never was intended for medicine, and people who use it as such will some day regret it.

We refer to the common use of soda to relieve heartburn or sour stomach, a habit which thousands of people practice almost daily, and one which is fraught with danger; moreover the soda only gives temporary relief and in the end the stomach trouble gets worse and worse.

The soda acts as a mechanical irritant to the walls of the stomach, and bowels and cases are on record where it accumulated in the intestines, causing death by inflammation or peritonitis.

Dr. Harlandson recommends as the safest and surest cure for sour stomach (acid dyspessia) an excellent preparation sold by druggists, under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These tablets are large 20 grain lozenges, very pleasant to taste and contain the natural acids, peptones and digestive elements essential to good digestion, and when taken after meals they digest the foed perfectly and promptly before it has time to ferment and poison the blood and nervous system.

Dr. Wuerth states that he invariably uses Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in all cases of stomach derangements and finds them a certain cure, not only for sour stomach, but by promptly digesting the food they create a healthy appetite, increase flesh and strengthen the action of the heart and liver. They are not a cathartic, but intended only for stomach diseases and weakness and will be found reliable in any stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50cts. per package.

A little book describing all forms of stomach weakness and their cure mailed free by addressing the Stuart Co., of Marshall, Mich.

Purchase of Cuba in Contemplation.

There is a rumor afloat in official circles that, if true, is most important. This is nothing less than that this government is about to make overtures to Spain for the purchase of Cuba. However, this may be, it has long been known to the world at large that the value of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for constipation, malaria, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney complaint and nervousness is beyond all price. A wineglasful before meals imparts a hearty relish for the food and a corresponding dose before retiring contribute to sound repose. No medicinal stimulant on the market ever received such strong professional indorsements as the Bitters. It is a most genial tonic, affording strength to all who use it. Not only in this country, but in many foreign lands, it is an admitted specific and preventive. As a safeguard against all disease of a malarial type, it is particularly valuable.

HAUL GRAIN AWAY FROM US

Farmers Around Emerald Grove Are Going to Delavan This Fall.

Dr. William Horne, who returned Saturday evening from a visit in Darien, was met on the road by a farmer from two miles this side of Emerald Grove, who said:

"This is what Janesville gets for not having a market. When I get this grain to market, I shall be sixteen miles from home."

He was hauling a heavy load of grain, and was evidently bound for Delavan. Coming in from Emerald Grove Dr. Horne noticed the road, and saw that it was all perfectly good for hauling loads between the Grove and Janesville, except near the St. John place, where quantities of loose rock had been dumped on the road, making a surface that no horse could travel over.

An east side physician took seven stitches in his head and was implored to "keep it mum."

An Ancient Ostrich.

A specimen of the extinct bird with teeth, called the hesperornis, was recently discovered in Kansas, so perfect in preservation that its feathers were still in place. These feathers, Prof. Marsh, of Yale, says, are "the typical plumage of an ostrich." Remains of hesperornis were first discovered by Prof. Marsh about twenty-seven years ago, and he was led to assert that the bird was probably a "carnivorous swimming ostrich." The recent discovery confirms his original opinion, while showing what wonderful changes have occurred in the living forms inhabiting North America.

Diminished Power.

"I don't know what to do about that man," remarked the pugilist's manager. "Oh, he'll make a record as a heavyweight," was the assuring response. "I don't know about that. A SIGNIFICANT CAMPAIGN.

The Greater New York campaign is well worth watching. It furnishes a lesson for states even as far west as Wisconsin.

The republicans of New York have nominated a ticket that should be acceptable to everybody who is against Tammany, and as the republicans comprise a large majority of Tammany's enemies, the Citizen's Union will see that every vote which Low would get would add to the strength of Tammany, and they will probably take him out of the field before election day.

Mr. Low's friends have placed him in a false position by their ostentatious disregard of the political amenities and their reckless defiance of the republican party. Knowing that they represented only a small portion of the community, they rushed Low into the field long before any of the other parties acted, and proclaimed that they would force their candidate on the republicans, whom they were well aware comprised a large majority of the opponents of Tammany, and who have the only organization which can fight Tammany with effect. Low himself is an able and public-spirited man, and in every respect an admirable citizen. There is a possibility that if his friends had displayed a little tact and had paid some regard to the political proprieties they could have induced the republicans to nominate him. In the present situation, however, he is an ally of Tammany, and the only possible effect of his candidacy will be to divide the friends of decent municipal government and give its enemies the only chance which they have of securing a victory. His duty, therefore, is to retire from the field.

A GOOD SHOWING.

Considering that the Dingley law found the warehouses and shelves of the country crowded with foreign goods when it went into operation, its second month proved very satisfactory and gratifying. The receipts for the month surpass those of the corresponding month in the history of the Wilson law, although that law had the advantage of the revenues from large quantities of foreign goods which had been held back prior to its enactment and rushed into the country as soon as it went upon the statute books, while precisely the reverse conditions prevailed when the Dingley law went into operation. The deficit in the second month of the Wilson law was over $13,000,000, while the second month of the Dingley law shows a very different situation. There is ample evidence that the Dingley law will provide sufficient revenue to meet all running expenses when matters resume their normal condition.

NOT A WAVERING POLICY

President McKinley's foreign policy is justifying the faith that people had in him. His attitude on the Cuban question is clear, vigorous and of a character that every American citizen will approve. Not only is he entering on a course which will bring permanent peace and prosperity to Cuba and the Cubans, but one which will meet with the approval of the intelligent nations of the earth and avoid the hostilities and criticisms which would have been certain to follow hasty and ill advised action taken without careful examination of all the facts and equally careful consideration as to the course of duty and wisdom.

BIG SPLIT IN THE PARTY.

The statement is made that the abandonment of the cause of free silver by the democratic managers in Ohio will bring about a very big split in the party in the Buckeye state. Those who put forward this assertion explain it by saying that a large proportion of the democracy in Ohio at this time consists of men who honestly and arnestly believe in the unlimited free coinage of silver by the United States government as a financial policy which will bring great good to the people of the country Some of these men are former republicans, who left their old political association, and who stand by the democratic platform on account of this free-silver plank.

This being the case, it is claimed that these people will not submit to the abandonment of free silver just because Mr. McLean may happen to believe that it will advance his interests or the welfare of the democratic machine in Ohio.

Retailers in the manufacturing and agricultural districts report an enormously increased business since the enactment of the new tariff law and the increased employment which has followed. Between the growth in earnings of the people employed in manufacturing districts and the good prices which farmers are getting for their grain, business is good for the retailers, and, as a consequence, with all classes in the mercantile and manufacturing communities of the country.

A VIGILANT GUARD.

Called the Police to Capture a Man in His Own House.

When the family next to us went away for the summer I promised to keep an eye on the place. It was arranged to have a man sleep in the house at night, but there are a lot of daylight robberies, and as I'm around home pretty much all of the time I was to prevent them.

"The other afternoon," continued the speaker, according to the Detroit Free Press, "I noticed one of the windows up. While I was skulking around trying to see without being seen I heard what seemed a muffled noise of hammering. By climbing to my own room and hiding behind a chimney I could see through some of the upper windows, and finally discovered that there was a man moving about upstairs. It didn't take me more than a second to decide that the plumbing was being cut out. I chased around the neighborhood in vain search for a man, and not feeling just like capturing a robber without any assistance telephoned police headquarters. In very brief time the wagon came up with a rush and the policemen were promptly deployed, so as to prevent an escape. With the house thus surrounded two of the bluecoats began crawling through the open window.

"'What in thunder are you doing there?' came a voice from the head of the stairs. 'Get out of that, or I'll shoot.'

"But in they went, and I gallantly brought up the rear with a revolver that hadn't been fired in twenty years. Down the stairs, four or five steps at a time, came the owner, who had just taken a run into the city for a day. Everybody seemed to think the laugh was on me, but all I did was to resign my custodianship."

Good Rules for Living.

Much of late has been written about the various kinds of foods which particularly nourish or supply the waste of the brain. That the labors of the brain are exhausting to the animal economy is very true, but the experience of the studious has proved that it is not so much the intensity of the study as the length of time spent on it, and neglect of relaxation, that produce the exhaustion. German students generally study more hours than we do here, yet break-downs very rarely occur among them. The reason of this is that they take better care of the body for the sake of the mind—of the house because of the tenant that occupies it. The real fact is that the majority of us rust out rather than wear out. That the brain is affected both by the quality and quantity of the food and drink like other parts of the body—perhaps more in proportion to the amount of blood it contains—no physiologist will deny. But that there are certain kinds of food—say fish and milk, as some have maintained—which are specially adapted to repair the exhausted brain, has never been actually demonstrated. The best way to preserve the brain is above all not to unduly tax it, to eat temperately of such food as has been found by experience to agree with the stomach, to avoid late suppers and night work, and to sleep as much as nature requires.

BIG FARM IS SWEPT BY FIRE AT NIGHT

LOSS OF $6,000 ON THE M'FARLANE PLACE.

Newly-Baled Hay Heats In the Mow and Spontaneous Combustion Results—Three Years' Crop Of Grain and Nearly All the Buildings Destroyed.

Fire on the big McFarlane farm east of Johnstown, destroyed buildings and much grain last night. When the fire was discovered it was under such headway that it could not be checked. It started in a hay barn. The hay crop was heavy this year and there was not room to store, so it was baled while fresh and is supposed to have heated in the bale.

Two large barns, one 50 by 56 feet, a corn crib and a wind mill were burned. With them went two years' crop of hay and three years' crop of grain. As the farm includes two hundred acres, the amount destroyed was large.

Loss Amounts to $6,000.

The loss is estimated at $6,000, with $3,500 insurance in the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company of the town of Walworth.

At 7 o'clock Sunday evening Rock Prairie for miles about was lighted by the blaze. Two miles away a newspaper could be read by the glare of the burning buildings.

Mrs. George McFarlane and her three sons—William, Duncan and James—manage the farm, which is situated three miles southeast of Johnstown, near the boundary line of Rock and Walworth counties.

Smelled Smoke In the Barn.

Len Forrest a boy who happened to be on the farm last evening smelled smoke about six o'clock and at once notified one of the McFarlane boys. The loft of the hay barn was found to be full of dense smoke. The alarm was given and the work of rescuing the imprisoned live stock commenced.

Every farm hand for miles around hurried to the scene and as soon as the live stock was rescued all hands turned their attention towards saving the dwelling. Not until well towards morning did the hundred fire fighters cease their efforts.

THREE BLOODED DOGS $2.30

Dr. George Bedford's Fox Terriers Auctioned At a Tremendous Sacrifice.

Three blooded fox terriers which Dr. George Bedford declared with great feeling to be worth $25 apiece if they were worth a cent were sold at auction by Sheriff Acheson today. They went to satisfy an $11 execution in favor of Pendleton & Gilkey. The first dog, Jack, went to A. Hepburn for thirty cents. Then Alderman Gilkey took a hand at the bidding and ran Flossy up to 50 cents and Lulu up to $1.50. It wasn't much of a price for dogs and leaves considerable on the execution still to be satisfied.

DANGER FROM BON-FIRES

None Should be Kindled While the Present Drouth Lasts.

On the evening of Oct. 11, Henry Austin Adams, the well known writer and lecturer, will lecture at the Myers House, under the auspices of St. Catherine's Reading Circle. His recent lectures at the Catholic Summer school at Madison, were by far the most popular of the session. Dr. Adams is peculiarly fitted to lecture on Cardinal Newman, as he himself is a follower in Newman's footsteps, being a convert from the Episcopalian church, and formally vice-rector of famous old Trinity church in New York City.

SAME DOG AND SHEEP AGAIN IN COURT

FOURTH TRIAL OF WIXOM SCHUMACHER CASE.

Three Times the Jury Have Gone Out Failed to Agree Whether the Defendant's Dog Killed Sheep On That Blustering Winter Night.

The Wixom sheep were chased by dogs for the fourth time in the municipal court this afternoon. In other words the case of Colonel Wixom against Charles Schumacher went before the jury once more, there having been three disagreements.

The case turns on circumstantial evidence, a watch dog's alibi, a blizzard and a dancing party.

When Colonel Wixom heard a dog worrying his sheep he claims to have gone out with a lantern and found tracks leading to the Schumacher house.

On the part of the defense it is alleged that the blizzard prevailing that night would have wiped out a dog's track in five minutes and would have made it absolutely impossible to follow a trail four miles over fields and fences.

Ask $150 For Damages

The damages claimed in the case amount to about $150. J. B. Doe was called in from Milwaukee to assist in the prosecution of the case for the plaintiff today, while W. G. Wheeler and F. C. Burpee went over the old famaliar ground for the defence.

Among the witnesses examined were several who were attending a party that night and who testified that they drove a little way down a side road, to take some of the young folks home, and that when they turned back the snow had already obliterated the wagon track.

Other Cases In Court.

Nathan Thornton was before Judge Phelps today for disorderly conduct and abusing his family. He was fined $10 and given five days in jail beside. If his fine is not paid he will have an extra fifteen days in jail.

PRISONER'S JAW WON'T HEAL

Frank Hunt Is In Need of Surgical Aid--Case a Peculiar One.

Frank alias "Slim" Hunt the alleged car burglar is in a bad way. Attorney Grosbeck petitioned the court today to have Hunt sent to the hospital for fifteen days so his jaw could receive surgical treatment. Hunt says he fell off a tobacco shed and broke his jaw two or three days before he was arrested, but the officers think that he took another man's plug of tobacco and had something thrown in during the discussion that followed. His jaw is broken at any rate and refuses to heal. His bleeding spell Saturday was due to the fact that a sharp point of bone has been pressing against the artery and has caused ulceration. The operation necessary to relieve it is a serious one, as Hunt's face must be laid open from the corner of the mouth far enough back so that the artery will be exposed.

King, who was arrested at the same time that Hunt was, prefers to have his trial deferred until his partner is in shape to appear.

NERVE HELD BY THE SCAR

Peculiar Operation Required to Relieve Washington Barriage

Washington Barriage whose left arm has always given him trouble since its amputation ten years ago has been relieved by an operation of peculiar nature. When the hand was taken off the main nerve of the arm was not shortened and the end was held in the scar that formed on the stump. It made an intensely sensitive spot, as susceptible to pain as the exposed nerve of a tooth, and caused much suffering. In order to relieve it Dr. Joseph Whiting dissected out the cicatrix surrounding the end of the nerve, clipped off the nerve and dressed the wound so that the flesh should heal over the nerve and protect it.

SHOTS END MAD DOG SCARE

Turnkey Sam Brown Called To the Second Ward With His Revolver.

A mad dog scare sent most of the people around the Second ward school into the house this morning. Fifteen or twenty women watched out of second story windows while Turnkey Sam. Brown emptied his Maxim rapid fire gun at a black and tan dog in H. L. Skavlem's back yard. Three shots finished the dog and put the neighborhood at ease. The supposed victim of hydrophobia had been charging around through back yards for an hour or so and had frightened the neighbors out of their wits.

DRY GRASS BURNED FAST

Several Acres Scorched Before the Department Could Quell the Flames.

Water was obtained from hydrants near the woolen mills and the flames were subdued after spreading over several acres of pasture land.

BUTTON-HOLED A KLONDIKER

Janesville Friends Kept Charles Knight Very Busy--He Goes Back.

It is doubtful if there was a busier man in town than Charles Knight during his Janesville visit. He was the guest of his sister, Mrs. C. A. Blanchard, corner Madison and West Bluff streets. Mr. Knight was confronted by prospective gold seekers on all sides.

"Those who contemplate making the trip from here, said Mr. Knight, "will do well to buy a portion of their provisions before sailing. When I left Circle City bacon was worth 50 cents a pound, beans 12 cents a pound, sugar 20 cents, flour $18 a hundred pounds, and coffee 50 cents a pound. It costs 10 cents a pound to get these supplies to the diggings."

Mr. Knight will return to Alaska next month.

VIOLATION OF LIQUOR LAW TO BE PUNISHED.

If City Officials Cannot Do Anything the Lodge Will Undetrake to Prevent Open Disregard of the Ordinance—Formal Notice Sent Out Today.

Another step in connection with the controversy between the Good Templars and the mayor was taken today. The following notice was sent out by the officers of the local lodge:

"Notice to licensed dealers in intoxicating beverages and others: Owing to the unwillingness or inability of our city officials to enforce the license laws, and realizing it to be unfair to take any undue advantage, without warning; therefore while not holding enmity toward any as individuals, we believe open violation of law is an injury to our country, and has a tendency toward anarchy. We of People's Lodge No. 460, I. O. G. T. shall in the future prosecute all violations of law coming under our notice; also in case of licensed dealers will commence action to revoke the license of said dealer."

Woman's World.

SHE IS A PLANTER.

A Young Woman Who Expects to Make a Fortune Growing Coffee.

Rita Wildwood is her name, her age is 23 and her condition is the honorable one of spinsterhood. Incidentally she is the richest woman coffee planter on the Hawaiian Islands. Two years ago she was a stenographer in a law office, with no capital except a $1,000 legacy that she was saving for burial expenses, as working spinsters sometimes do. She heard of the coffee plantation possibilities in Hawaii, and she decided to risk the funeral and invest her capital. She induced her brother, who had an equal capital, to join with her. In Hawaii they took up 260 acres of land, at $4 an acre. A friend of theirs with some experience in coffee growing joined them. Within two years they have all made the venture pay. Miss Wildwood expects to be earning an annual income of $10,000 at the end of four years.—San Francisco Examiner.

MISS RITA WILDWOOD.

All Black and All Velvet.

At a New York importing house the other day a small crowd of coming and going admirers were continually grouped around an effigy of a young lady attired wholly in black velvet—the gored skirt untrimmed, but elegantly hung, and lined with damask red taffeta, the waist a belted, short skirted Russian blouse fastened on the left shoulder and down the left side to the waist, and there trimmed with full frills of black accordion plaited mousseline de soie and beaded rosettes of black satin bebe ribbon of the narrowest width. The hat was a large wide Rubens with broad drooping black ostrich feathers on crown and brim. No color of any description appeared upon the hat, and no other trimmings were used. As a whole, the model presented a remarkably rich, elegant and distinguished appearance, quite in contrast with the light, perishable and pale colored toilets of summer still exhibited in close juxtaposition to the one described, and nearly every woman as she passed in review received a personal inspiration for the designing of a new cold weather costume, all black and all velvet, and a hat to match, all feathers as to decoration and with not a particle of overdone "coloring" or "tone" about it.—New York Letter.

A Woman's Tribute.

An actor is thus quoted in the Philadelphia Record: "There was a pathetic little incident at Mrs. John Drew's funeral to which I was a witness. It brought tears to my eyes. I was standing near the church door when I noticed a shabbily dressed woman trying to push her way feebly through the crowd. She was evidently very old, and her white hair and wrinkles showed that she must have been contemporaneous with Mrs. Drew. She carried in her hand a bunch of flowers that she must have picked herself. The sun had withered them, and, even if fresh, you might have bought them for 10 cents. When she found that she couldn't get in, she turned to a man in the crowd who knew her and begged him to get in and put the flowers on Mrs. Drew's coffin. He did so, and the poor old woman's little tribute to her dead friend was placed with other and more costly flowers. I found out afterward that the old woman was Anna Cowell, once almost as prominent as Mrs. Drew, but now an inmate of the Forrest home."

Her Point of View.

In a recent book called "Potpourri From a Surrey Garden," by Mrs. Earle, it is asserted that a married woman is bound in common honesty to devote her best energies to the care of her household because her husband provides her the means for doing it. "No woman has a right to eat a man's food, dress with his money, and then not in every way try to please him." Any work, such as writing or art, should be given up, or at least most minutely regulated. In spending time in such employment, Mrs. Earle says, a woman "yields to a form of self indulgence and robs her home and children of the most vivifying portion of herself."

Popularity of the Tea Gown.

The tea gown has never been lost to sight since it first came into general use, and this dressy affair is courted by many women both summer and winter. A gabrielle front and watteau back are inseparable from the regulation tea gown, though the most elaborate and newer editions of this style of dress are more like a fancy princess dress than anything else. However, in this, as in all other garments, variety is the rule and the manner of trimming and change of materials lend style and effect to the garment more than the original cut, which may be in belted style or not, as the fancy dictates.—Woman's Home Companion.

Women's Inventions.

There has always been a sense of surprise that women did not oftener invent women's tools—that is, something needed peculiarly in feminine work. But among recent patents issued to women are those for dish covers, for sleeve and cuff adjusters, for an improved table fork, for dress pockets and the material thereof, and for a ventilating device for boots and shoes.

The Mothers' Union.

The Mothers' union is an organization extending over the whole of England and Wales and having branches in Ireland and several of the larger colonies. The membership includes mothers of all classes, and this has been found a great advantage to higher as well as to lower. The union publishes two quarterly magazines, The Mothers' Union Journal and Mothers In Council, the latter intended for the better educated members, and both give much useful advice and information.

Daughters of the Revolution.

In Connecticut are 56 daughters of Revolutionary soldiers, ranging in age from 103 down to 58 years. One of these, Mrs. Elisha B. Avery, who was born July 16, 1839, is the daughter of Solomon Loring, who, when nearly 14 years old, entered the Revolutionary army as aid to Colonel Best of Massachusetts. Mrs. Avery was born when her father was past 70, and at the age of 16 received a minor's pension.

Miss Jones is considered a very efficient title clerk.

Mouse and Bicycle.

A wheelman of Corunna, Mich., has to thank a mouse for the addition of 98 miles to his cyclometer record. He hung his bicycle from his cellar ceiling the other evening, not far from a swinging shelf where food was kept. A mouse bent on supper reached the shelf, and when it had sampled the viands leaped to the tire of the front wheel. That immediately began to revolve, and the mouse naturally ran to the highest part of it. It couldn't stay on the top of the tire and it couldn't get enough foothold to jump to the wall. So it ran round and round the revolving wheel, and the next morning was found, almost exhausted, but still running, with 98 miles to its credit.

Animals Without Fear.

In contrast with the animals that show great fear of man and that distrust all unfamiliar sights and sounds we find others that seem not to know what it is to be afraid. You have probably noticed that some animals will make friends fearlessly the moment they meet you, just as some children are never shy, because they take it for granted that every one is their friend. There is a difference, however, between fearlessness and courage. Let us give you an example of what we mean.

If in walking across a field you flush a partridge and she pretends to be lame, fluttering at your feet, doing all she can to attract your attention, it is not because she feels no fear. On the contrary, she is in an agony of terror. Her nest is close by, her children cannot save themselves, and she is offering you her life for theirs. That is not fearlessness; it is courage, and courage of the highest kind. The brave mother bird that is ready to die for her little ones fears more for them than you can understand.

True fearlessness, on the other hand, is perfectly ignorant, and touches our hearts in a different way. A naturalist whom we know tells a pretty story of meeting a little mouse one day in the middle of a mountain lake. The tiny creature was swimming vigorously for the shore, but when the man in the boat stretched out a friendly oar to meet him the little mouse ran up it at once and into the palm of the stranger's hand where "he sat for some time and arranged his fur and warmed himself. He did not," the naturalist tells us, "show the slightest fear." It was probably the first time he had shaken hands with a human being, and he liked it. "He was what we call a meadow mouse, but he had doubtless lived all his life in the woods and was strangely unsophisticated. How his little round eyes did shine, and how he sniffed me to find out if I were more dangerous than I appeared to his sight."—Our Animal Friends.

A Young Lieutenant.

The western governors are fond of introducing novelties into their administrations. Their staffs contain women colonels every now and then. Children also run a chance of serving in the "national guard" with distinction. Governor Tanner of Illinois has just appointed Clifford M. Blyer, aged 14, as first lieutenant artillery, A. D. C. of governor's staff, Illinois. He is the son of Colonel C. E. Blyer, also of Governor Tanner's staff, and is extremely proud of being attached to the personal following of the governor.

What Was Left.

Two little brothers, aged respectively 4 and 6, fell in with a stray kitten, which, suffering by the hands of some cruel person, had of its tail scarcely half an inch remaining.

"Poor little kitten," said the younger one. "Who has cut off its tail? I wonder if it will grow again?"

To which the elder gravely remarked: "Of course it will. Don't you see the root is still there?"—Philadelphia Times.

Certainly you don't want to suffer with dyspepsia, constipation, sick headache, sallow skin and loss of appetite. You have never tried DeWitt's Little Early Risers for these complaints or you would have been cured. They are small pills, but great regulators. C D Stevens.

A SECRET.

Sunk deep in a sea,
A sea of the dead,
Lies a book that shall be
Never opened or read.

Its sibylline pages
A secret inclose—
The flower of the ages,
A rose, a red rose.

That sea of the dead
Is my soul, and the book
Is my heart, and the red
Rose the love you forsook
—Julian Hawthorne in Lippincott's.

A DAY OF ROSES.

A scent of roses made Aylmer think of something that was over long ago and that he had almost forgotten. The roses were everywhere in the drawing room he had just entered. They stood in jars on the mantelpiece. Flat bowls held them on tables, and singly in slender vases they were to be seen here and there among the china and the odds and ends of silver and enamel, and delft and marble that filled the dainty room.

Audrey had loved roses. There was one day in the little cottage under the beech trees where Aylmer had spent many an hour that seemed of a sudden passing happy now—one day which he and she had called the day of roses. He had only to shut his eyes—indeed, had not to shut them—to see again the flower strewn room. It was Audrey's birthday, and he had brought her roses. They were in the hamper first in which they had been packed. Ah, Audrey's little cry of delight as she raised the lid and saw them lying softly among their damp leaves! Then they were on trays, two big trays that yet would not hold them, and they overflowed on to the table, where, with their foliage, they lay, a litter of crimson and yellow and green, over which, with caressing touch, leaned Audrey, the sweetest flower of all. He could see her gather up a handful and bury her face amid the petals that were scarcely more delicate than herself. Then there was the seeking of things in which to put them. Every suitable vase and jar and pot the cottage contained was requisitioned, and there were still roses. He had been reminded vaguely of the woman of the sons of the prophets—without calling her all that—and the miraculous pot of oil, for, as with her: "It came to pass when the vessels were full that she said * * * Bring me yet a vessel." And there was no vessel found. Four roses remained over. One of them he must wear. He chose the smallest, an opening bud. The other three Audrey, kissing them first, put into the girdle at her waist.

That was the day of roses, and Aylmer, back from his two years' travel, had forgotten it till a chance scent recalled it and the idyl that had been an incident among incidents in a somewhat thoughtless life.

But he was dreaming, and here was Diana. She came in with an apology and a rustle of silk. She was grieved to have kept him waiting. She put up her face to be kissed; the first time of his dining with her, and not to be there to receive him! But it was inexcusable—inexcusable. She had had an afternoon of delays—just that; delays everywhere. First the tiresome lawyer people, and then the trustees, and at the last moment a young woman from Antoinette's about her trousseau. What a business marriage was, and the fact of having been through it before did not ease matters at all!

Complicated them, Aylmer suggested.

Complicated them, she agreed.

"I'm giving you a lot of trouble, I'm afraid," he said smiling.

There was to be no sentiment in this marriage. Diana had "gold and green forests." Aylmer had spent his gold, and the potential cutting of certain timber at Aylmer's Keep had brought about the engagement. Lady Aylmer had perhaps a hand in the matter, when she asked the comely widow of Fontenbrink Granton of Broad street to the Keep to meet her son.

"All that will have to go," she said one day to Mrs. Granton, and waved her hand toward a wood on the hill.

Mrs. Granton raised her eyebrows.

A day or two later, driving through the wood in question, Mrs. Granton observed a couple of men with notebooks and pencils who saluted the Aylmer carriage as it passed, and she observed Aylmer's face, too, as he returned their salute with a wave of his whip.

Lady Aylmer caught—perhaps sought—her eye and sighed.

That evening Mrs. Granton was the first to come down from dressing, and she strolled out on to the terrace. The sun, setting behind her, shone upon the doomed woods. Gold steeped them. The shorn hill would be an eyesore.

She heard a step on the gravel, and saw Aylmer approaching from the house.

"The prettiest view in England," she said.

He came and stood beside her, and the eyes of each were on the woods.

"I am told you are going to spoil it," she said then.

"For a time."

"A lifetime."

The lady's gaze ascended the hill to the top, where the trees stood up against the sky.

"It seems a pity," she said, and said no more just then.

The gong sounded presently, and they went in. You could see the shining hill from the windows of the dining room. Midway through dinner, as the evening closed in, a servant went to draw the curtains. Mrs. Granton faced the window.

"Oh," she said to Lady Aylmer, "might he wait a little? It is all so beautiful from where I sit."

Lady Aylmer turned and looked, and Aylmer looked too. In truth, the scene was too fair to shut out.

"Leave the curtains as they are, Charles."

"Very good, my lady."

So Mrs. Granton saw the woods to the disappearing point of dusk.

But later the moon rose. Aylmer and she found themselves upon the terrace once more. The night was warm. Mrs. Granton's eyes were on the woods. Their changed aspect in the moonlight was excuse itself for any comment.

"Must you?" she asked suddenly.

He looked for her meaning.

"I!" he said. "I! It is not I."

"Who then? Ah, yes. I understand. They are mortgaged."

Foreclosure was a word she associated with poor plays. Such things happened then! She remembered the two men with the businesslike air and the notebooks.

She laid her arm on the stone ledge of the balustrade.

"There must be a way out," she said. "If I could find it."

An hour or two later, when she took her candle from his hand, she said:

"Look for the way out."

She smiled, and he followed her with his eyes as she mounted the stairs, her skirts trailing and the candle held high. She did not look back at the turn in the staircase. Aylmer, in the smoking room, was ruminant.

It was impossible to mistake her.

Nor did he misunderstand. She said "Yes" when he spoke the next day.

Lady Aylmer said, "Diana, Diana, dear woman, God bless you!"

"Perhaps he will," said Diana.

Now, in her drawing room, the woods saved and his future mortgaged instead, Aylmer took a rapid survey of his life up to the point it had then reached and decided that he had pursued the only course open to him. Neither did he in calmness repent the step he had taken. Diana Granton had not her money alone to recommend her. She was of the world and admirably fitted for the position he offered her. That she was comely has been said, and she took a sensible view of the situation. He was not in love with her, and she was wise enough to conceal from him the secret that her own heart had been revealing to her gradually for some time past.

At dinner that evening she looked at him and knew that she loved him. He looked at Diana and thought of forgotten Audrey.

It was the fault of the roses in the drawing room.

The scent of them haunted him—followed him home. Poor little Audrey! What would she think? But near as he had come to loving her, he had never made love to her and had nothing to reproach himself with, for which now he was fervently thankful. Yet he was not quite happy as his hansom took him to Clarges street. A memory of something that was wistful at times in Audrey's eyes stirred him. The thing was absurd, inconceivable. Her mother, gentle as she was, was a woman of the world and had known that he "meant" nothing. Audrey was a child to caress and pet. It was he who had suffered at the parting. Her tears were the frank tears of childhood and rolled down her cheeks unconcealed.

His misgivings told him that he had done well to go.

He thought of the restlessness that had possessed him during the early days of his travel. It had sent him from place to place. He had written a letter then that was never posted, and had refrained himself until time and distance allowed him to write calmly. Presently the need to write at all ceased and he knew himself cured.

But tonight Audrey haunted him. He could be thankful that he had not made a fool of himself. The girl was not of his world, and he knew the folly of an ill assorted marriage, but she had been very dear to him.

How fair she was! Her face insinuated itself persistently between him and sleep. She must be grown up now—yes, Audrey must be 19. The curves of her slender figure would be rounded and many subtle changes mark the time that had seen the crossing of the border line of womanhood, but she would be the same Audrey that he had known and had been so near to loving.

It was late before he slept. Then Audrey came to him in dreams that had no definite shape. He tried vainly afterward to remember in what guise and to what accompanying circumstances she had appeared to him. He only knew that she had been with him, sleeping as waking, through the night.

The air and the light of day, however, cleared his brain. He spent a morning with Diana, and by the time she was sitting opposite to him at lunch he could view the situation calmly and see that his happiness lay in the direction he was taking. Nor was he consciously selfish.

He parted with Diana and walked homeward. It was a time of roses. The roses in a flower shop caught his attention. They filled the window.

He found himself in the shop. He had been attracted by red roses, yet in the end it was white roses he chose. He believed that he made his choice by hazard, though now he sometimes wonders. It may be that some thought of Audrey's nature influenced him.

He took out a card and paused. What to say? His love? He hesitated and wrote, "For auld lang syne." Then he gave his directions as to the sending and left the shop.

Three days later a letter reached him.

He opened it carelessly, not recognizing the handwriting. His fingers tightened suddenly upon the sheet.

"I put your roses on her heart," wrote her mother, "loose, as they came. She would have loved them so."—Lady's Realm.

The Opposite.

Grant Duff has in his reminiscences the following story of Lord Houghton: The Cosmopolitan club was accustomed to meet in a room which had been Watts' studio, and on the walls of which hung an enormous picture by him of "Theodora and Honoria." Some one asked Lord Houghton what this represented. "Oh," he replied, "you have heard of Watts' hymns? These are Watts' hers."

WHY FAVORITE STOVES SAVE COAL

THE arrangement of radiating surfaces is unique. The hot air is utilized in the house--is not forced up the chimney until it has done its work. If you will study the flue construction as shown below you will readily see why it is that the FAVORITE Base Burner will throw out more heat with the same coal than any other Base Burner.

THE OLD WAY.

In above Flue Construction there are Four Surfaces Radiating Heat.

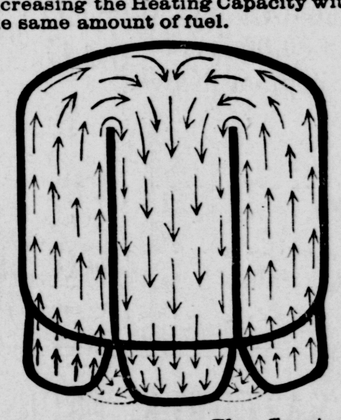
Above cut illustrates the arrangement of Bottom Flues in nearly all base burners, showing the Heat is not Equally Distributed.

THE NEW WAY.

In above Flue Construction there are NINE Surfaces Radiating Heat, Increasing the Heating Capacity with the same amount of fuel.



The above Bottom Flue Construction causes the Heat to go to the Outer Surfaces, Largely increasing the Heating Capacity and Economizing in Fuel.

The "Favorite" Base Burner has More Heating Capacity and is the Most Economical Stove ever made. Why? Because it has about ⅓ more Radiating Surface as compared with same sizes of other base burners, and is Mounted and Fitted Perfectly.

Remember that headquarters for Stove and Furnace work is here. ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴
